

Holy Living: What Signs Accompany You?

Using the readings from the Feast of Saint Mark the Evangelist

Read:
1 Peter 5:5b-14
Ps 89:2-3,6-7,16-17
Mark 16:15-20

Jesus says, in Mark 16:15-20, that "signs like these" will accompany Christians, and he lists some really amazing signs! He also mentions other signs throughout the Gospels. Elsewhere in the New Testament, we see many more examples of signs that accompany Christians, such as in 1 Peter 5:5-14.

Never are miraculous signs meant for self-glorification or self-enjoyment, nor to make one's own life easier. Always, they are tools of evangelization.

What kinds of signs accompany your daily life? (Ahem, I said daily life — oh, there's the challenge!) What makes you noticeably different from the non-Christians around you?

The word "holy" means to be different from the world, set apart from it, belonging not to the world but to the kingdom of God. It does not mean "divine" or "perfect" as we might assume.

Are you holy? Yes you are, and I'll explain how I know this, shortly. Do you live out your holy nature? Yes you do, if you behave differently than non-Christians. Although you and I have not perfected our holiness yet (and we won't until we're out of this world and finished with purgatory), we are holy.

And how can we be sure of this? Because we have the Holy Spirit living within us! Our baptisms made us holy. In the Sacrament of Confirmation, we renewed our reliance upon the Holy Spirit to grow in holiness.

The question now is: How does anyone else know that we are holy? How does your spouse know — and anyone else who lives with you? How does your employer know? If you're a student, do your teachers know? Does your pastor know? Do your neighbors know? How about your friends? The grocery store clerk?

And what about the people in church with whom you interact in ministry and worship?

Don't be surprised by that last question. The divisions and injustices that go on in parish life indicate that we Christians have a lot of work to do to grow in holiness.

Our faith in Christ becomes known — and evangelizes others — by the signs that accompany us, i.e., the signs of God's presence within us. His love, his compassion, his wisdom, his patience, his forgiveness, his humility, his healing, his wonders — these make us very different from the world.

How do people know that you are Christian?
